RICHMOND MAN SLASHES WIFE; COMMITS SUICIDE

Insanity Is Held Cause Of Tragedy

Lysol Taken By Crazed Man; 12 Stitches To Close Wound

Believed to have suffered an attack of insanity, Einar A. Christensen, 43, of 716 Tenth street, Richmond, yesterday attacked his wife with a large mirror, inflicting wounds that required twelve stitches to close, and then killed himself by drinking three ounces of lysol.

Discharged from the insane ward at Mare Island last Saturday as cured, Christensen assaulted his wife with the mirror, driving her out of the house. She sought refuge at the home of Deputy Coroner and Mrs. W. P. Drumme, nearby neighbors, and the police were summoned.

Attempting to gain access to the house authorities found the door locked. Breaking the lock when Christensen failed to open the door, they found the man sitting on a bed with the lysol bottle beside him.

Dr. L. A. Hedges applied the stomach pump but Christensen died within an hour. Dr. U. S. Abbott sewed up the long gash inflicted by the mirror on Mrs. Christensen's head.

Christensen was an employee of the public works department at Mare Island. He was discharged from the insane ward there as cured last Saturday. Some months ago Christensen was struck over the head while at work and sustained a fractured skull, it is reported. Placed in the Mare Island insane ward he was released a month ago. At this time he attacked his wife and two children and drove them out of the house as soon as he returned. Government officials returned him to the naval base hospital before he could be arrested on a warrant issued by Richmond police charging insanity. The latest development and resultant tragedy came yesterday, following his discharge last Saturday.

Last rites for Christensen will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel. Services will be under the auspices of the Odd Fellows of which deceased was a member. The date for the inquest has not yet been set. Christensen is survived by his wife, and the two children, Victor, aged 12, and Lillian, aged 8.

HAMELS ARE HOSTS

HOW MONEY GROWS

It is really wonderful how interest, added to regular deposits even though they are small, counts up. The attractive interest now paid by Building and Loan Associations, which are under state supervision and as strong and safe as anything can be, offers unusual opportunity to those who want to get ahead. Twin Brothers Confess After Life Term Is Given To Hugh

(By Universal Service)

EUGENE, June 23.—Paul De Autremont standing tearless in the little stone bordered garden beside his house here today heard the details of the confession of his three sons of the Siskiyou train robbery and murder of four men and declared himself embittered toward no one, least of all the prosecution which convicted Hugh of the murder and aided in bringing about the confession of the twins.

"It is a terrible crime. If my boys did it they should pay the penalty. All that I can say is that I am heart broken."

"I tried to bring these boys up right. I taught them to play square."

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., June 23.—After four years patient search at a cost to the government and state of nearly a million dollars the famous Siskiyou tunnel dynamiting of Southern Pacific gold special train number 13, in which four men lost their lives is solved. Tonight Ray, Roy and Hugh De Autremont are on their way to Salem penitentiary to spend the remainder of their lives.

A jury was empaneled immediately following the confessions of the twin brothers Ray and Roy and life sentence was also recommended for them. Sentence was immediately passed by Judge Thomas.

15,000 ACRES ARE SWEEPED BY ROARING BLAZE

Ridge Highway Choked By Smoke; Call For Aid Is Broadcast

(By Universal Service)

BAKERSFIELD, June 23.—The San Emidio grass fire 40 miles south of Bakersfield broke into the first conflagration in Kern county in years when it went roaring out of control today and swept into the Santa Barbara National forest on a flame belching five mile front. Two hundred men directed by National and State forest rangers and fire wardens are spending all their efforts in keeping the fire from spreading beyond its five mile width. Last night and today they were powerless to do any more than wage an even fight on the east and west flanks, while the front continues advancing in the higher levels in a direction that is carrying it between Lebec and Frazier Mountain Park. The bridge route highway between Los Angeles and Bakersfield is choked with smoke, and hundreds of motorists are at the Gorman Government ranger station to inquire as to the safety of the road. The fire will not reach the highway, it is believed.

Late this afternoon it was estimated the flames had burned over an area of 15,000 acres. A general call for assistance has been issued, and response is being received from all parts of Kern county and from Santa Barbara.

Twenty-five checks marked "no funds" were turned over to Detectives Charles Masher and James Hansen yesterday by stores.

Both Martin and Scott were arrested in the height of style and expressed indignation that they should be suspected of wrong doing.

They were arrested in a Bush street apartment house. For two hours the detectives remained in the apartment, receiving numerous calls from persons who were answering advertisements which Martin and Scott are said to have placed in newspapers for the exchange of articles, automobiles and even real estate.

More than a score of stores, and hotels are believed by the detectives to have been duped by accepting worthless checks.

Several stores reported they had sold silk shirts and silk hose and other expensive wearing apparel for worthless checks.

When they were arrested the pair were in possession of more than $2,000 in currency. They had been stopping at downtown hotels and maintained the expensive apartment merely as an office to meet persons who might be prospective buyers.

During the two hours the detectives remained in the apartment more than fifty persons telephoned them.

According to police, Scott's wife left for Los Angeles several days ago. The police will get in touch with all the Pacific coast cities in an effort to check on the history of the two men.

12 Men Seriously Hurt In Blast At Claremont Tunnel, Three May Die

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Cal. June 23.—Striking a match to light a cigarette, an unknown workman in the Claremont tunnel today ignited a pocket of natural gas which set fire to the timbering of the bore and seriously burned 12 workmen. The men were at work 1671 feet from the west portal of the tunnel which is part of the Mokelumne water project, when the blast occurred.

The concussion hurled the men from their feet, dashing them against the rough board timbering and scarring their faces, hands and chests.

A crew of fellow workmen dashed into the flame and smoke filled tunnel, aboard a motor car used in hauling dump cars. There was only one gas mask at the construction camp, but the men, unmindful of themselves, plunged in. They brought all 12 men out in one trip.

Three of the men may die. They are: S. E. Miller, 540 Seventh street, Oakland; H. L. Heath, 3325 Abbey street, Oakland; Vic Surich, 1119 Fifth street, Sacramento.

She broke her way out her cage in the summer White House garage early today, scampered up the hills and nestled in the top branches of the highest tree.

AN OBJECT LESSON

There is in process of development a movement when the old ship has been rehabilitated and put back into fighting trim, to take "Old Ironsides" on a "glory cruise," around the Great Lakes.

Such an itinerary engaged in by the frigate should thrill the hearts of millions and operate against pacifism, sentimental internationalism, socialism and the howling protests of those who cry opposition to every proposal for the protection of this government and its people against the contingencies of probable war.

In the days of the Republic's infancy and weakness, "Old Ironsides"—a fleet within self—guarded and defended the young nation, assailed and crushed imposing and powerful assailants of the national security, making possible the development of a government in which even mouthing ultra-pacifists may show anathema against readiness and adequate means for the defense of its children, under the foils of the protecting banner once borne through the shock surge of heroic battle by the old sea warrior—a standard which now whispers of a recrudescence of patriotism, from her berth of years' long rest. And should she leave that berth on a traverse of the nation's inland seas, the fact should stimulate in the hearts of young and old a furor of patriotic interest which a flood of pacifist propaganda could not drown.

As was said by Major General Foreman at Chicago, "It would be the finest anti-toxin in the world for the tendency toward being ashamed of national Americanism." Nations live on traditions. "Old Ironsides" represent patriotic glories past and ripples the promise of glories more surpassing still to come.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Frank H. Simonds, the historian says that in refusing to ratify the Versailles treaty and in getting out of Europe as soon as possible the United States helped the cause of Europe rather than retarded it. If Mr. Simonds isn't careful he may get a letter from the college professor's union.

We are receiving contributions of "pieces" from people who seem to think that whether it is poetry or prose depends entirely on the way the printer sets it up.—Columbus Dispatch.

Now that we have practically cut the amount that Europe owes us in two, a lot of our college professors are perfectly willing to throw off the other half.

The average Chinaman may be almon-eyed but this doesn't necessarily make him a nut.

Men Who Made the World

THE SHIP HAVING NOW BEEN MADE READY, THE "GOLDEN HIND," AFTER FOND FAREWELLS TO THEIR INDIAN FRIENDS, SAILED STRAIGHT ACROSS THE PACIFIC, THROUGH A TRACKLESS SEA, PRESENTLY THEY CAME TO SOME ISLANDS NOW CALLED THE FARALLONES, STRAIGHT WEST OF SAN FRANCISCO BAY. DRAKE NOW EXPLAINED HIS PLAN TO RETURN HOME AROUND THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE. FOR SIXTY-EIGHT DAYS AFTER LEAVING THE FARALLONES, THEY SAW NOTHING SAVE ENDLESS WATERY WASTES. ON SEPTEMBER 30, THEY REACHED A GROUP OF ISLANDS SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN THE PELEWS. THERE THE NATIVES THROUGED OUT IN A FLEET OF CANOES, LOADED WITH COCONUTS, FISH, POTATOES, FRUITS. SOME OF THE CANOES CARRIED AS MANY AS FOURTEEN MEN. THE NATIVES WERE INTERESTED IN THE WHITES. THEY BLACKENED THEIR TEETH WITH AN HERB, WORE FINGER NAILS AN INCH LONG AND HUGE EAR-RINGS. THEY PROVED VERY TRICKY AND TREACHEROUS, AND TO GET RID OF THEM DRAKE LEFT FOR THE OPEN SEA.

What it's all about

By PAUL ALLEN

EDITORS AND WRITERS ARE having hard sledding. Boston's outburst against popular novels by leading writers is merely a sample of many such efforts to suppress the press. This situation is nothing even mavericked at one time for printing the Bible. In all times and in every land people who thought they knew what was right, have always been ready to prevent others from disagreeing with them.

FLORIDA HAS TAKEN A LEAD in the anti-thinking movement. Editor Byron M. C. G. West of the Florida State News has been barred from the state Senate because of an editorial, in which he had criticized the action of that body. The editorial referred to the text books of Florida colleges. The eminent statesman wanted to be sure that students of their fair state never would see anything in print indicating that the human race sprang from monkeys. Down there it looks as if they hadn't started to spring yet.

WHEN SENATES AND COURTS bar editors and reporters there is danger that important facts will be suppressed. People depend upon newspapers to keep them informed of what is going on. When information is withheld from the papers democracy becomes almost impossible. Suppress the press and scoundrels in office would be able to carry on crooked business without fear of exposure. That is why the men who established our government thought so highly of freedom of the press as to guarantee its preservation.

"I AM GREATLY INTERESTED" in your edition on editorial writes Gerald Dineley of New York. "I agree with you that there are many things possible that have not yet been done. I think it is possible to put across a non-stop round-the-world flight with a little preparation. All that is necessary is a large enough plane to carry two or three pilots for relief work, and several refueling stations at the proper points. It is quite possible to load gasoline tanks of flying planes from the storage tanks of other planes flying above them. I saw such an operation carried out successfully while I was flying near San Diego four years ago." All right, who'll go?

JUDGING FROM ALL THE dinners they have been giving in honor of Charlie Lindbergh, folks must still imagine he hasn't recovered from his ration of one sandwich on his transatlantic hop.

IT IS UP TO AIRPLANE manufacturers to do their part. In this country they have been depending so much upon government contracts that they have given small attention to commercial service. Aviation is in just about the same position that motoring was in when Henry Ford built the first flivver. Wanted at once—Some one to construct and sell airplanes at a reasonable price. That is the quickest way to give

Capitol's Record Far Behind Usual Rate

Dan Cupid has gone into a batting slump in Contra Costa county this month and his average for June brides is due for a severe tumble unless he makes unprecedented haste in promotion of marital matches. The records of County Clerk J. H. Wells revealed yesterday.

So far this month only 58 couples have secured marriage certificates. Last June, which set a record for Contra Costa marriages, there were 86 licenses issued.

SKEPTICISM

An actuary reports that more people are injured falling in bathtubs than off ladders. An ex-dough-boy thinks this probably doesn't apply to France, where he never saw a bathtub, but went up a ladder to bed.

"That bootlegger puts water in his whisky." "Well, answered Uncle Bill Bot-tle-top, "mebbe that'll make both his whisky and the feller that drinks it last a little longer."

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America, following Emmett Murtough, to whom she is betrothed. Neither Kildare nor Murtough will hold steady jobs and Sheila goes to work as a waitress. She makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer. Murtough reneges his engagement to Sheila, although he has revealed plans of his bootlegging gang to remove $150,000 worth of contraband to a cabaret girl in the employ of a rival band.

She divined the mysterious "Gus" was undoubtedly connected with a liquor ring, but five thousand dollars was five thousand dollars. And she thought that was her lot. "Why share it with Murtough at all?" Life as she had learned it was just one "double cross" after another. Why not leave him out of it entirely? Why make him a party to the deal at all? Of course it was insisted, she would do so and then scheme to get the money in her own possession. He was not a bad fellow and she liked him because he never "got fresh." She could take care of herself with men like Murtough. It was those slick, smart fellows that got girls into trouble; not men like Murtough, who seemed to be afraid of his shrewd little companion. He was a clumsy, ignorant fellow, easy to fend away and easy to keep at his distance.

From the moment the doors were ready for admission at the Castle, Clarice nervously watched for the entrance of Gus. As the hours passed she feared that he would not come and she began to worry lest she had been "chickened" by the three men in evening dress. She was seated at a table with a

"I think he's on the level, but money talks, and right now little Clarice can handle him. But do you need him at all? Suppose I can tell you something that would be worth while, couldn't you leave him out?"

"That depends on how much you know. But what do you want to double cross your sweetie for? Thought this money was to be a wedding gift." "I am not saying it isn't, but, maybe, I don't want him to get mixed up in this at all." Schermer hesitated. Already his ring knew of the ship that lay outside the twelve mile limit waiting to be unloaded, but they did not know the location of the secret landing station. They needed someone who knew every foot of it to help arrange the plans for a concentrated attack and the theft of the entire cargo. If this girl knew the place, then scouts might be able to lay out the campaign, but a deserter from the Clocker camp would be of invaluable aid.

"Do you know where Clocker's place is in Long Island?" "Not exactly," confessed Clarice, and she mentally kicked herself for not having warned that from Murtough.

"What else do you know?" "I know this," Clarice leaned across the table and whispered. "They're going to unload a shipful of stuff at that station on Friday and Saturday nights."

"This week?" "This week." "Why, I thought—" Schermer let surprise creep into his voice. "Maybe that info isn't worth anything," he said. "The girl, Schermer looked at his watch. It was near to four o'clock.

"Can you get this bird on the phone?"

"No, he lives in a rooming house down on Fifty-second Street. There is no phone."

"Will he come if you send for him?"

"Here?"

"No, at an address I'll give you."

"Yes."

"All right. Write him a note now. Tell him to go to Room 717, Marmaduke Hotel, as quick as he can. Tell him it's something big for him."

The waiter brought writing paper and Clarice wrote as Schermer dictated:

Dear Emmett: Go at once to Room 717, Marmaduke Hotel in Twenty-seventh Street and ask for Mr. Schermer. It means a lot for you. Do what he tells you. CLARICE.

"Here, I'll take that and have my driver go up and give it to him on the way down." Schermer paid the check and hurried out. Twenty minutes later Murtough was awakened by the chauffeur.

"A guy tells me to give you this and for you to hurry," the driver said. "But, who gave it to you?" "How do I know? It's the guy I'm driving."

Do, Re, Mi-And Vacation Days Exact Their Toil

By MRS. FRANCIS KENT

School is over! But vacation doesn't always mean hours with the fellaers on the diamond back of the garage, or down at the swimmin' hole; and it doesn't always mean that little girls can pass the days at countless delights and fancies, dolls, playing "house", and over-coming the intricate stitches of first embroidery.

Sometimes vacation spells an added hour of practice at the piano under the exacting mark of the metronome.

Though, even an hour soon passes, if tiny hands aren't required to practice the same old scales twenty times, and if the last piece teacher gave has an intriguing story to go with it. Take for instance, Franz Beher's "French Child" that tells about the drummer boys marching around the wall paper at night-fall, as the little French child puts her beautiful flaxen-haired doll to bed.

Then there's Gurli's "Dream Waltz" that tells all about the left hand dreaming that it was the right hand, because the right hand could do things so much better. Then the left hand just thought it would "show" the right hand and it did.

Dr. Elliot has said that music performance is the most marvelous feat of co-ordination in which man has ever become proficient. It is on the fact that all children love music, that W. Otto Meissner, whose primary songs are included in our state text-books, a few years ago outlined a distinctive plan for teaching children of the public schools in piano classes of ten, twenty or more.

This plan has been adopted by many public schools and has been surprisingly successful, and similar other plans for teaching the group have been constructed by such wide-known teaching method authorities as Williams, Kincaid, Presser and others.

Meissner himself, eliminates the traditional method of study for the child beginner, and with rhythmic games, knowledge of the keyboard and note values, they are in their first few lessons introduced to the chord on I and the chord on V, and the tiny hands are eager to find and play them in other keys. The melody is taught by notes, dore, me method, and when the child quickly learns the song with the words, it is transferred to the piano keyboard, and the left and right hands played separately, then together with proper technique, with the first piece memorized, the child is required to transpose to many different keys. Transposition is introduced by Meissner in the fifth lesson. Thus in the very first few lessons, the child has made friends with rhythmic measure, melody, harmony, sight reading, fingering, memory work, technique.

At the first lesson the child beginner is given a melody that he can immediately respond with for the amazement of his father and mother. His practice does not include endless scales and exercises, but is made up of the rudiments of piano mastery—from the first instead of by procrastination. Many mothers naturally themselves, have been astounded at the early knowledge the child displays of fundamental harmony, and his ability to recognize chords in first and second inversions in all keys.

The Meissner method is also successfully taught in private lessons, as well as in class, or by a combination of the two.

Tom Mix, starring in "No Man's Gold," has as his leading woman Eva Novak, who has appeared with him in four of his releases. She was the leading woman in "Sky Line," "Rough Diamonds," "The Speed Maniac" and "The End of the Trail."

"No Man's Gold" is Fox Film version of J. Allan Dunn's dramatic novel about a gold mine and a girl, which is now showing at the Richmond theatre.

Mix has the role of Tom Stone, a compuncher, and Miss Novak plays the part of Jane Rogers, cowgirl rider, owner of the Box R. ranch. Stone wins both the mine and the girl after a series of thrilling and unusual events.

Cast with Mix and Miss Novak are Frank Campeau, the silk hat gambler of the "3 Bad Men"; Harry Gripp, who played Ivan the Nameless in "Siberian"; Mickey Moore, nine-year old veteran of twenty-five motion picture dramas; Malcolm Waite famous for his role of Carter in "Kentucky Pride"; and Forrest Taylor, who returns to the screen after starring on the stage for eight years.

The story is a vivid drama of the desert, adapted by John Stone, who wrote the continuity of "3 Bad Men" and the other Fox features.

Other film features include "Midnight Follies," a Marmaduke comedy; and "Mike Wins the Medal," a screen novelty.

The brilliant Chinese lad, Honorable Wu, about whom the act centers, is ambitious to do serious drama. He has attained gratifying success in vaudeville, but he is eager to step forward to greater work.

"It is a struggle," he smiles, "but I think conscientious hard work will win."

One of the tasks he sets for himself is the dramatization of American plays for China.

Wu is a splendid type of the modern young Chinese. Even in his art he is a patriot, seeking to strengthen through the theatre the bond of understanding between China and the United States. He has received white-while offers from Australia. "I have no desire to leave this country I admire so much," he says. "The American spirit and the American way of doing things are to me wonderful."

Just previous to his present theatre engagements Wu spent three days in Yosemite Valley. Although born in San Francisco it was his first visit there. Its beauty far surpassed his expectation of it, he says.

TO X SHOWS IN HAIR RAISER AT CALIFORNIA

Hard riding and swift action mark Tom Mix' latest, "The Canyon of Light," which will be screened at the California theatre today, for one day only.

For breath taking suspense, nerve tingling excitement and hair raising escapes, it is doubtful if even Tom has surpassed what he does in this gripping drama of the frontier. Not only are there some real shock producers in the mountainous country, where many of the sequences are taken, but battle scenes in France, where Tom plays the part of a dispatch rider, are also full of action and suspense. Dorothy Dwan plays the role of the sweet heroine, with Tom, William Walling, Ralph S. Hyperly, Carl Miller, Camilla Garaghy and Barry Norton are seen in roles of importance. Don't miss this one if you want to enjoy some real thrills.

Other features on the same program include "Smith's Baby," a Mack Sennett comedy; "Felix in Barn Yards," "International News" and Larry Canelo, at the organ.

FIGHTERS WAIT GONG IN BOUTS AT EL CERRITO

Bouts at the El Cerrito Athletic club tonight will see one of the best fistic programs ever staged in these parts from the looks of the arranged matches. Thirty rounds of boxing are being billed with six real fights on tap; an eight round main, a special event and three fast four round fights.

Bobby Ertle of Oakland and Lacy (Young), Farrell S. F. Canadian will tangle in the eight round main event. Fans have seen Ertle and they know how good Ertle is. Farrell is every bit a worthy foe for Ertle as he has chalked up a decision over Ertle a few years ago that Bobby is anxious to wipe out. These little fellows weight 126 pounds and are two of the fastest featherweights on the coast. Farrell is a veteran who has fought the best in his days and still holds his own. Ertle although a veteran is but twenty four years of age and still has hopes that one of these days he will battle for a world's title.

Buddy Ryan of Pinole and Johnny Lawson tangle in the six round semi. Lawson is known as the Oakland bull dog. This little terrier they say is but twenty one years of age. He has boxed close to four hundred fights. Johnny says he wants to fight one thousand times before he stops. They say that these two have had some hard feelings and that there will be the class of fighting that made many heroes in the World's War.

Cliff Hottenger, El Cerrito's famous clown will take on Joe Ramos celebrated West Oakland clown. They say Ramos is as dark as night. But Cliff says no matter how dark he is he will find him. It should be a comedy of errors, this, and a real mirth provoker.

Rudy Avileno of Manila who they say is another real Pancho Villa will try out Joe Vierra who has been a steady winner here. This promises to be a real fast bout.

Francisco Lenda who also has been a steady winner will meet Billy McBeigh and Lou Richards will entertain Charles Davis in the opener. Benny Wagner will again act as third man. Promoter Ross reports a big house as there will be a big delegation from Pinole and Crockett alone to see the Lawson and Ryan fight.

ROBERTS HURLS FRIENE OUTFIT TO 5 TO 4 WIN

HOW THEY STAND

Barrel House 5 2 .714
Refinery 5 3 .625
Mechanics 3 5 .375
All Standards 2 6 .286

Springing one of the biggest surprises of the season, the lowly All Standards nosed out the Refinery yesterday afternoon, 5 to 4, and dragged Chick Autry's aggregation down from its first place position.

Charley Friene, All Standard manager, shifted his lineup around yesterday and the change seemed to produce good results. The All Standards played errorless ball, behind the pitching of Roland Roberts and made most of their hits count for runs.

Starting as was the All Standards' unexpected victory, however, it didn't produce nearly the thrill that a home run by Chick Autry created. Last Saturday the veteran first sacker electrified the fans at a benefit game between the Richmond Elks and Sannies by stealing two bases. Then just to show that his rejuvenation wasn't but a flash in the pan, Chick stole one out of the lot yesterday for a home run with a man on.

After getting away to a good start early in the season, the Refiners have been handicapped by several pitchers during the past several games. Hal Dimmock, who had won nearly every game he started for Autry's crew, then commenced pitching Sunday ball with the Marysville club of the valley league. This made it necessary for the Refinery pitching staff to be augmented, with the result that Cy Cunningham, who was pitching semi-pro ball when most of the other Standard Oil players were running around in short pants, was exhumed from the baseball graveyard and pressed into service. Cunningham has been pitching mighty good ball, all things considered, but he is far from being the twirler that Dimmock is.

Autry sent Dimmock to the hill-top yesterday and the little left-hander plainly showed the effects of too much work. After the All Standards had scored twice in the first round and added another tally in the second inning, he was derailed in favor of Cunningham. The venerable Cy held the winners to three hits and two runs for the remaining five innings, but the two tallies that the All Standards gathered off his delivery proved sufficient to win.

Roland Roberts, who pitched Sunday ball for the Richmond Sannies, went the whole route for the All Standards yesterday. Roberts allowed the Refiners eight hits but gave the impression of taking things easy, bearing down only when it became necessary.

After the Refiners had tied the score at three all in the second inning, aided chiefly by Chick Autry's circuit club, the All Standards forged into the lead with a run in the third frame and added their last and winning run in the fourth.

Johnny Huzefka, who has made a sensational comeback on the diamond this season after breaking a leg last year sliding into a base, was the hitting star of yesterday's encounter. Johnny slugged out a double and a single, and also plucked the agate over the fence, only to have Spike Elder call the ball foul.

Charlie Friene and Elmer Hansen also collected two hits apiece.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

JOE INTRODUCES THE REAL CHAMP

Joe Humphries has played his part in ring history; now he has played a minor part in international history.

On the night of May 20, Jim McInerney and Jack Sharkey fought at the Yankee Stadium.

Under the bright glow of arc-lights that illumined the ring, a bald-headed individual raised his right hand and called for silence in a voice which had forfeited its silver lining.

It was Joe Humphries, and he was calling on the thousands assembled there to stand a minute in silent prayer for the successful termination of the attempted transatlantic flight of Capt. Charles Lindbergh.

The United Press reports that he has passed over Newfoundland and is now flying above the Atlantic Ocean," roared Joe.

Arc-lights threw the same bright glow Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds. Insects hummed above them in a swiftly moving cloud. Over the clubhouse in the center field a greenish ball of a moon lifted itself slowly as if to peep in at the scene.

Joe Humphries, wearing the same blue suit, raised his right hand in mid-ring, for silence and called on Charles Lindbergh, now a colonel, to present himself in the flesh.

Lindbergh had completed the cycle.

Lindbergh is a handsome kid. No picture which I have seen does him any part of justice.

Attired in a tuxedo, he appeared thoroughly fagged out.

There was weariness in every line of him and the fight crowd, quick to sense physical exhaustion, called to Humphries to have done with the talking and "let the kid alone." Every move Lindbergh made seemed to express that dominant thought—"I'm so tired." If Americans don't show some regard for him, they're going to have a very dead hero on their hands.

SID JOES LEONARD'S MEMORY

The one-round knockout, which Sid Terris scored over Ruby Goldstein was the outstanding feature of the actual bill of fighting which Ed Kenny had arranged to bolster the finances of the Catholic Boys' club of New York.

In May 14, this writer, reviewing the Terris-Leonard fight and the Goldstein-Goodrich fight of the night before, declared that Terris would knock out Ruby when they met.

The prophecy was correct, but it only came about after the most hectic brawl you ever have witnessed.

Fifteen seconds before Goldstein was carried to his corner, knocked senseless, he had floored Terris for a nine count.

Benny Leonard, sitting at the ringside in his capacity as a scribe, must have thought back to his sensational fight with Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee pulverizer, as Terris was clipped only to arise and clip Goldstein.

Leonard was knocked very goofy, indeed by Mitchell in the old old garden, but later in the fight Leonard knocked him out.

In that fight, Leonard regained his feet, sneered at Mitchell and dared him to come in close. It was a magnificent bluff and it worked. Mitchell never realized how badly he had hurt Benjamin Leiner.

Terris thought just as quickly when Ruby dropped part of the roof on his head. Resting his knee, while taking a nine count, Terris grinned at Ruby as if to say: "Just wait until I GET UP, RUBY."

It may have been Sid's confident smile that unnerved Ruby. I think it probably was the right hand drive which Terris hit him with as Ruby rushed in, to eager to kill.

ACE HUDKINS, THE NEBRASKA WILDCAT, stole the rest of the show as Walter Winchell, the fight fan who never gets duets, would phrase it.

Hudkins lost on a technical knockout to Sgt. Sammy Baker, a very hard-boiled top sergeant from the aviation corps at Mitchell Field, but the fight was only stopped when Hudkins' right eye, closed as tightly as a drum, had been badly cut. Another cut on his cheek was bleeding profusely when Referee Lou Magnolia courageously called quits. Dr. Walker, the boxing commissar doctor, applauded Magnolia's judgment after examining the ragged cuts.

Easter fans have always had a warm spot in their hearts for Hudkins.

After his wonderfully game fight against Baker, he will be idolized.

Hudkins almost cried when he was guided to his corner. With his eye totally closed, and with blood streaming in a torrent down his cheek from two bad cuts, Hudkins pleaded with the referee to let him go on.

"Don't stop it," he begged "I'm just beginning to get going."

Gone as a pebble, that kid, just as Bill Duffy has said on more than one occasion.

Baker, in stopping Hudkins, looked like a real good welterweight. If Joe Dundee of Baltimore, Md., is sincere in his desire to defend his title within sixty days, I am certain that Sgt. Sammy Baker will be pleased to oblige him.

This aviation top sergeant is a pretty shifty scrapper. He has come up from the small clubs, fighting steadily and always improving. Originally noted as a knock-em-out puncher he is now regarded as an excellent boxer. The combination of punch and skill makes him stand out as a challenger for Joe Dundee's title.

REFINERY HEAD MAKES HOLE IN ONE ON SEVENTH

Joining the hole-in-one club Tuesday, Henry J. Hauser, Jr., president of the Contra Costa Golf club, prominent exchangeite and superintendent of the Ozol refinery, became the president emeritus, or whatever it may be termed, of the club by stepping out of the "No. 3 green holders" and scored his record shot on No. 7, one of the difficult holes on the course. This is the first hole-in-one on No. 7, a green on which under two shots. And best of all, Hauser wasn't practicing alone. With him to make up the foursome were Mrs. Hauser, J. C. Hanna and Miss Jeanne Jacobson.

Into the teeth of a heavy wind, Hauser drove his ball from the No. 7 tee, about 6 o'clock last evening, high on the hill-top, with a perfect mid-iron shot. The ball struck on the apron about five feet from the green and rolled on up the slope to drop kerplunk neatly into the cup.

The No. 7 hole on the Contra Costa club course is a difficult one. The tee is many feet above the green and the fairway slopes away sharply with the course's only bunker and sand-trap a short distance from the green which is planted with a type of grass very different from that used on the other eight greens and decidedly tricky.

Three Contra Costa Golf club members have scored holes in one, but all were on No. 3 green. D. D. McGregor was the first to gain the honors of the club, W. F. "Buster" Mair followed a few days later and then George Nees of Crockett shot a bulls-eye. Hauser's hole-in-one, however, tops 'em all, for, while No. 3, the short 123-yard hole is in a hollow, with the banks of the gulch sloping generally toward the hole on three sides, No. 7 is 171 yards distant at the far end of a mean slope with the green itself considerably off level.

JOE DUNDEE TELLS OF RISE TO TITLE

By JOE DUNDEE (Samuel Lazzara)

As Told to JAMES W. JENNINGS

Until I commenced fighting as a welterweight, the name of Joe Dundee did not mean much to the fans. I was just another of the dozen or more fighters who adopted Johnny's nom de battie.

Around Baltimore and Philadelphia I was known as a good tough fighter, but nobody ever suspected that I was to rule the welterweight in a short time.

In New York every white fighter ducked Jack McVey, the colored welter, but when they offered him to me for a fair purse I jumped at the opportunity to make a showing in your city.

I got the verdict over him easily. Then I took on Tommy Freeman Joe Simpson and Mickey Walker. They all lost to me, Walker being stopped in eight rounds.

These victories made me the challenger but Latzo would not fight me.

Figuring I needed a vacation, I let Waxman match me with Eddie Roberts on the Coast. What happened is history.

Roberts kissed me with that awful right of his in the first round and I went down for a short count. I was groggy when I arose and another of those socks put me on the floor for a count of nine.

I clambered to my feet and Roberts rushed me to the ropes, where he lammed me with a barrage of rights and lefts.

I was hanging over the ropes when the referee came between us and stopped the match.

I had been hammered severely and admit I was dazed, but the match had but five seconds to continue, and the referee, if he knew my ability to recuperate quickly, would not have stopped the contest. With five seconds to go, I could not have been counted out, and in the succeeding rounds I might have either put the snore on Roberts or outpointed him at least.

After this rumrump I was considered dead as a welter contender. I insisted that I be matched in a return affair against Roberts and when I got that bout proved that I was cheated out of the match on the Coast.

Roberts dropped me again and had me wobbly, but I did to him after that restored me to the position as chief contender.

I figured Latzo would be a mark if I ever got him in the ring.

He was anything but that, and I had to fight away better than I ever had before to take the title.

Anybody who claims that Pete was weak at the weight is mistaken. He roughed me around, pulled and tugged plenty.

Intend to fight often

A boxing championship is supposed to change a fighter, but I either have not got wise to what it means to be a boss of a class, or titles mean nothing.

I won't go into vaudeville, because I cannot do anything but fight, and they won't stand for that on the stage.

I realize that my stock as a fighter has risen to the peak and that I will bet a fortune in the ring.

There's where I belong and, like Paul Berlenbach, I intend to fight frequently while I am at the top of my form and collect as many big purses as I can before I lose the crown.

Outside of Sammy Baker, Ace-Hudkins and Latzo, if he cares to make the weight again, there is no opponent in sight for me. Any of that trio can have a shot at my championship within a month.

I hope that Mickey Walker

Canzoneri Doped To Trim Taylor

CHICAGO, June 23.—Tony Canzoneri, New York challenger for the world's bantam weight boxing championship will probably enter the ring tomorrow night at Wrigley Field, a 7-5 favorite to win the title from Bud Taylor, the recognized holder as the result of today's postponement.

Promoter Mullen decided to postpone the match today at noon because of unfavorable weather.

King City—Work started on addition to King City high school.

I will box as long as I can, but when I feel that I am no longer fit to cope with the best welters in the class I will quit.

Despite my many fights, I have not earned enough to carry me through life. Until I met Latzo by biggest purse was $7,500 for the Walker go.

When I retire from boxing I will enter the loan business. I have invested all my ring earnings wisely in real estate and I hope I never will require a benefit after I quit the ring.

I enjoy my summer home at Rockaway beach, on Chesapeake. There I can go fishing, crabbing, boating and swimming.

Ask me my favorite sport and I would tell you gardening. There are forty two rosebushes about my home in Baltimore, and I love to putter about my garden.

OWS HER LIFE TO PONG

Stockton, Cal., March 21, 1927. To the Fong Wan Herb Co.: I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co. and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herb Co. as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

HEART TROUBLE

Marvellously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she was able to walk and rest. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.:

SCOUT CAMP IS ATTENDED BY NEARLY 100

Camp Diablo has an enrollment of 90 boys, with a group of five men assisting Executive Warner.

Leaders: William B. McKenzie, scoutmaster at Hercules-Pinole, archery and merit badges. Frank Coates, chairman Martinez district, belt honor system. Herman Wood, scoutmaster at Pittsburg, Tenderfoot and Second Class tests. E. O. Hill, A. S. M. Crockett, craft in leather.

The boys are displaying excellent camp spirit. In fact the men say they have never handled so fine a bunch of boys.

Camp is kept clean and sanitary and visitors have lavished the boys with compliments. Last week 21 boys and 3 men went to the top of Mt. Diablo and 50 are planning the trip this week.

On Friday of last week the boys cooked their own dinner, consisting of twist on a stick, steak, baked potatoes and chocolate. No one went hungry.

The following boys entertained Monday night on K.L.X. Alfred Incarnati, John Davis, and Norman Jones sang "The King of the Canibal Island." The Diablo Harmonizers, Reed Cowan, Edwin Brooks, Harold Davis, Albert Schultz, and Albert Bunyard, sang "Three Good Turns."

Harold Davis and Henry Peterson each played a harmonica solo. Four violin solos were rendered by scouts from Concord. The violinists were John Vogel, Van McCurdy, Roy Skendle, and Harry Majors. They were accompanied by the famous California composer Mr. Schub.

Clyde Barnhard's reading "The Little" was well received. The boys who listened in at Camp Diablo enjoyed the program immensely.

The following boys from Richmond are enrolled for the second week of camp:

World's Fastest Hiker Aged 12

Tom Hertton is only twelve years old, but he's some hiker. He was found yesterday morning at the home of T. J. Bonetta, 459 Second street, playing with the two Bonetta boys Tommy and Billie, after having left his home at 9 Garden avenue, Alameda, Wednesday afternoon.

He started from home with 60 cents, and spent 50 cents of his purse for a room at the Glenn hotel, where he spent the night. He avers that he often takes long hikes, and says that the Richmond expedition was accomplished without any rides. His supper Wednesday night consisted of two snails. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hertton, formerly residing at 445 Second street Richmond, had enlisted the aid of the Alameda police a few hours after the lad had left. The boy said this morning that when he left he said goodbye to his mother.

Former Resident Of Clayton To Be Laid At Rest Here

LIFE SENTENCE IS GIVEN TO 3 D'AUTREMONTS

(Continued From Page 1.) holding up and dynamiting Southern Pacific train number 13, bearing a large shipment of gold, as it entered the Siskiyou tunnel, 12 miles south of Ashland, at 12:45 p. m., October 11, 1923.

The train had just left the little town of Siskiyou and was slowing down at the approach of the tunnel when the bandits halted it. Immediately after shots were heard.

Passengers and trainmen rushed to the front of the train and discovered Sidney L. Bates, the engineer and Marvin Seng, the fireman dead. Charles O. Johnson the brakeman was later discovered sitting near a ditch suffering from bullet wounds in his stomach. The body of E. E. Daugherty, mail clerk, was found in the wrecked mail car.

The car carrying the gold was so badly wrecked by the dynamite explosion that the bandits were unable to get to the valuables, and they fled to the hills.

Hugh D'Autremont was arrested several months ago in Manila, while serving as a soldier in the army.

Roy and Ray, the twins, were taken into custody at Steubenville, Ohio, two weeks ago.

MEDFORD, Ore., June 23.—The crime the three brothers confessed committing was one of the worst in the history of the state. The Southern Pacific train number 13, a "gold special" bearing a large shipment of gold, was held up at the mouth of the Siskiyou tunnel, about 12 miles south of Ashland, Ore., at 12:45 p. m. October 11, 1923.

The train had just left the small town of Siskiyou and was slowing up to go through the tunnel, when the bandits halted it. Two roughly dressed men were seen by civil engineers who were traveling on the train. Shortly after the engine was halted, shots were heard.

Dynamite Charge

That the crime was planned far in advance was clearly evidenced the discovery of a detonator leading to a heavy charge of dynamite which wrecked the car. The car was so badly wrecked that the bandits were unable to reach the gold shipment.

Passengers Hysterical

This was the mail car and was next to the tender. As it burst into flames the passengers went into hysterics. Passengers and trainmen rushed to the front of the train, believing it had collided with another train. Here they found Sidney L. Eates, engineer and Marvin Seng, fireman, dead on the floor. Charles O. Johnson, the brakemen was found later sitting near a ditch with bullets in his stomach. The body of E. E. Daugherty, the mail clerk, was found in the wrecked mail car.

The fireman on the train discovered a pair of overalls, and considerable amount of wire leading to the detonating batteries. Two men were seen tugging at the wire, but when the fireman came in sight, they ran.

In the pocket of the overalls was found an express slip bearing a name in the handwriting of Roy. This slip was for a huge chest. The chest when found had been burned several hundred feet from the mouth of the tunnel leaving only the tell-tale bands in the ashes. This evidence, was largely the cause of Hugh's conviction.

Byrd Held Up On Flight By Weather Man

The decision was reached after Byrd had a long conference with weather bureau men today. Peter Adams, president of the National Aeronautic Association, and Carl Schenck, its secretary, came up from Washington this evening to seal the barograph, the last act necessary before a hop-off.

Plane Ready For Hop

The big plane has been wheeled out to the runway and is ready for the jump. Police reserves have been ordered to keep the field clear of people in the morning and no one will be admitted to the field without a pass.

While all these plans were being made, Byrd will not definitely announced that he will take off in the morning. He has never set a time for a take off because he did not want to give the impression of a false start.

Return Flight Planned

That Byrd plans a return flight was indicated today by three things.

Doc Kinkade, who tested the motors for Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd, is headed for Paris and it is presumed he is going there to inspect the plane before it flies back.

It is understood that arrangements are being made for a stop in Ireland on the return trip.

Escort French Plane

It is also understood that Byrd will escort a French plane on his return trip. The French plane is to be given by Lieutenant Tarascon.

Byrd, however has not confined any of these three things that have been practically admitted by others close to him.

Bert Acosta, the pilot; George Noville and Bert Halchen, the lone passenger, are eager to get away. It is not expected that any of them will do much sleeping tonight.

Rodman Wanamaker, financial backer of the trip, announced today that each of the four men will be covered by $50,000 life insurance during the trip.
